Report New Indications Of Guns On KSU Campus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — New indications of possible sniper fire in the Kent State University shootings which killed four students were reported Tuesday by the Ohio National Guard.

Guard spokesmen, who have contended that troops opened fire during a confrontation with antiwar demonstrators after a sniper began shooting, say that a .32 caliber revolver has been fished from a river and four weapons — two handguns and two rifles — have been taken from persons arrested in Kent the day of the shootings.

Meanwhile, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today that three persons saw a guardsman fire a pistol into the air above a student's head during an incident on the football practice field 10 minutes before the fatal shootings.

"He held his pistol at a 45-degree angle, aimed over the rock throwers," the Plain Dealer quoted Richard Schreiber, a KSU journalism professor, as saying.

"He fired at least one round over their head. With my binoculars, I saw the recoil and the muzzle blast when he fired."

Two KSU students, Sharon Keene of Kent and Patrick Carr of Akron supported Schreiber's story.

The three didn't see the later shooting incident in which the four students were killed during the May 4 demonstration, and couldn't say if the guardsman was the same one shown in a Life magazine picture this week. Life's picture purported to show an officer aiming his pistol at students during the fatal confrontation.

Of the earlier incident, Schreiber said, "I had my binoculars and saw the troops who were cornered by the fence on two sides of the practice field. It seemed to me that at this time and place they began to lose control and behave irrationally."

Schreiber said a group of students began to throw rocks at the troops and several guardsmen raised their M1 rifles as if to fire at the stone throwers.

"The stone throwers were too far away to be effective or dangerous with their stones," Schreiber was quoted as saying.

He said the one guardsman then drew his pistol and fired into the air.

The finding of the weapons was reported by Lt. Col. J. E. P. McCann, an administrative aide to Adj. Gen. S. T. Del Corso, Ohio Guard commander.

Blackmun Easily Confirmed As Supreme Court Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Harry A. Blackmun's Supreme Court nomination has swept through the Senate without opposition, ending President Nixon's long fight to fill a vacant seat with a man he regards as a strict constructionist.

The Senate's 94-0 confirmation vote Tuesday means the 61-year-old Rochester, Minn., jurist is eligible to assume the post at any time, although Blackmun's office and the high court said no time has been set.

In Rochester, Blackmun took the news of the Senate in typical low-keyed fashion, saying "I'm just not up to making any verbal statement."

But in a written statement, Blackmun said "I am troubled by an awareness of the awesome responsibility of this new assignment. I sincerely hope that I have the character and the strength and the intellectual capacity adequately to fulfill it."

A member of the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals for 11 years, Blackmun was chosen by Nixon

April 15 to fill the seat after the Senate rejected his first two nominees, Judge Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C., and G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.—Haynsworth because of an ethics question, Carswell because of his racial views and judicial record.

The seat has been vacant since Abe Fortas turned in his resignation under fire last May.

Nixon said he chose Blackmun, an honors graduate of Harvard and a long-time friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, because he wanted a judge who interpreted the Constitution strictly and who could restore "balance" to the high court.

But the judge has said he is neither liberal nor conservative and, furthermore, deprecates labels on his philosophy.

After Blackmun became the first high court nominee in eight years to win unanimous Senate confirmation—the others were Arthur J. Goldberg and Byron R. White—Nixon telephoned his congratulations.

Ohio Assembly To Take Up Campus Riots

Report Students, Administrations To Face Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Campus disorders likely will be a major issue when the Ohio General Assembly reconvenes. Tempers flared Tuesday as the joint House-Senate Education Review Committee took its first look at the recent wave of college disturbances.

Committee members indicated that both students and administrators will have to account for their actions.

Sen. James K. Leedy, R-19, Wooster, said students should resist minority attempts to take over classrooms or buildings.

"If you won't stand up and be counted, I'm not going to be responsible for your problems," Leedy told three Ohio State University students who are petitioning to have the school reopened and rioters expelled.

"If you want me to get a rifle and get those demonstrators out then I'll do it, but that is not our job," snapped Felix M. Huertas, 29, of Brooklyn, N.Y., an OSU junior.

"You're whistling Dixie if you think the legislature is going to do it for you," retorted Leedy. Leedy, admittedly irked because a bill he introduced earlier in the year calling for expulsion of rioting students had died in the Senate Judiciary Committee, walked out of the meeting following the outburst. Committee Chairman Fred B. Hadley, R-1, Pioneer, said uni-

Nader Aides Hit Nixon And Muskie

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of Ralph Nader's student investigators has accused both President Nixon and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of passively supporting the build-up of deadly contaminants in the atmosphere.

In a lengthy task force report on air pollution in the United States, the group said Wednesday ineffective laws coupled with corporate irresponsibility have permitted the air to become so fouled that "almost no city street in America is safe."

"Both Sen. Muskie and President Nixon have moved this year to accumulate mileage on America's latest 'motherhood issue'—air pollution," said John C. Esposito, chief architect of the report.

"Both the senator and the President, each in his own way, offered more of the same palliatives which have failed the nation over the last several years."

Muskie, a Maine Democrat and chairman of the Senate subcommittee on pollution, said the report distorted his role in drafting antipollution legislation.

"We are all aware that we must do more," the senator said in a statement. "Mr. Nader—a newcomer to this cause—would do well to join in this constructive effort."

Automakers, coal, oil and natural gas producers, and several manufacturing concerns were cited in the report as the chief obstacles to cleaner air.

"The established order in air pollution control is deeply one of contrived anarchy, one permissive of corporate violence against the health and safety of millions of Americans and corporate destruction of billions of dollars of property and property values of small homeowners, small businesses and the average citizen," Nader said.

OSU Opening Under Study

Eye Next Week As Possibility

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Faculty members returned to the deserted Ohio State University campus today, and there was speculation the school might reopen as soon as next week.

Instructors returned today under announced phases for reopening, and supporting personnel and staff members will return Thursday at the request of their immediate supervisors.

The school's faculty council asked President Novice G. Fawcett Tuesday to recommend to the board of trustees the reopening of the university as soon as practicable.

The council, while fixing no specific date for reopening, said it should be accomplished soon enough for students and faculty to complete work for the spring quarter.

Spokesmen for the faculty council said Fawcett has asked the faculty to plan to hold extra classes, extend office hours and provide tutoring where necessary to help students complete the term's work.

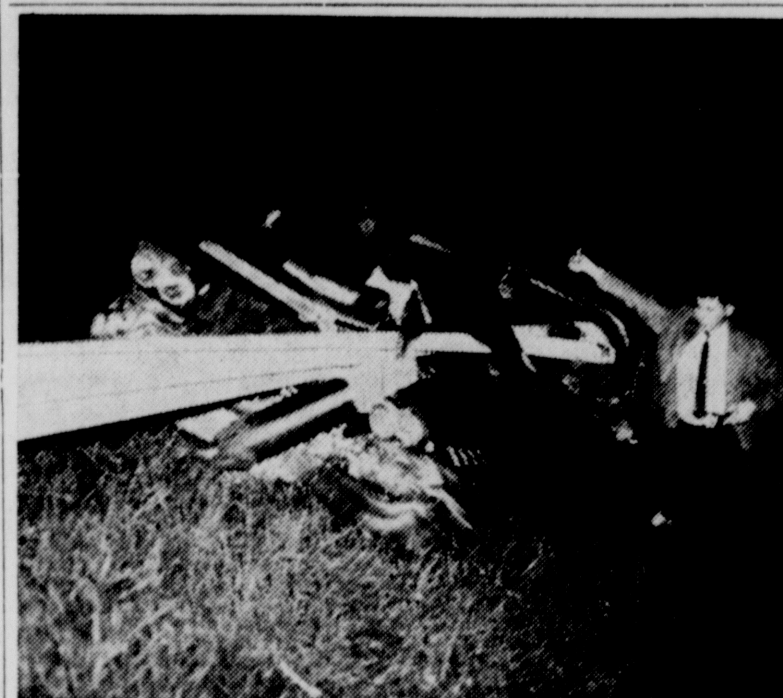

The board of trustees is expected to vote at its regular meeting Thursday on a timetable to complete reopening.

Ohio State was closed May 6 after five days of riots which sent National Guard troops to the campus.

At Ohio University, President Claude Sowle repeated his declaration that the school would remain open, and trustees reaffirmed his authority to declare a campus curfew if necessary and suspend or expel any students causing disruptions.

The Ohio Wesleyan University faculty adopted five options Tuesday for students who want to spend part of their time in peace efforts. Students may complete a normal course of study, take an incomplete in any or all courses, complete courses with work independent of classroom activity or take any or all courses on a pass-fail basis.

Storms Rake Great Plains, Midwest; Damage Reported

LOST CONTROL — Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Phil Brown and Bill Dountz are surveying the wrecked car in which Buddy Eugene Blair of Williamsport was killed. The car in which he was a passenger went out of control on the Crownover-Mill Road and struck the guard rail. Forty feet of rail passed through the auto pinning Blair in the wreckage.

Guard Rail, Car Accident Kills County Youth

A 21-year-old Williamsport man was killed at 11:18 p.m. Tuesday when the car in which he was a passenger struck a guard rail on the Crownover-Mill Road in Perry township. Buddy Eugene Blair suffered a broken neck and was pronounced dead at Berger Hospital.

According to Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz, Blair was a passenger in a car driven by William S. Kline, 23, of Mt. Sterling.

Rounding a curve at the intersection of the Williamsport Crownover-Mill Road Kline lost control of the auto, went off the left side of the highway and hit the open end of the guard rail.

THE guard rail penetrated the fire wall of the vehicle, passed through the inside and out the rear window.

Blair was evidently riding in the middle of the front seat and the rail struck him, knocking him into the left rear seat, according to the investigation report.

State Invests In Water System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state today invested $3.7 million to finance a water system for 2,400 rural residents and seven schools in southwestern Butler County.

State Treasurer John D. Herbert said it is the fourth such investment by the state to aid rural areas needing water.

The water system will consist of seven elevated tanks, four booster stations and 135 miles of pipe. It will provide softened hot water to seven schools in Hazover, Morgan, Oxford, Reily, Ross and St. Clair townships.

Forty feet of guard rail passed through the car and had to be cut before they could remove Blair's body.

The driver suffered severe mouth and nose lacerations and was treated at Berger Hospital and transferred to University Hospital, Columbus.

Another passenger, George Terflinger, 50, of Williamsport, had contusions of the chest and arm and was treated and released at Berger Hospital.

The fatality was the eighth in Pickaway County this year. Blair was the son of Mrs. Daisy Blair, Route 1, Williamsport. Funeral arrangements are being completed by Porter Funeral Home, Mt. Sterling.

Trucks Hit By Stones

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Five trucks were met by a rock-throwing, armed crowd of 50 to 60 men and forced back to their terminal in Newburgh Heights today as steel haulers in Northern Ohio continue their strike for more pay.

Officials of the Dworkin Truck Lines said tires were shot out, air hoses cut and windows smashed on all five trucks, but no drivers were hurt.

Dworkin, a steel hauling firm, said its 100 drivers are members of Teamsters Local 407 in Cleveland and they had reported regularly through the steel haulers' strike. It said today's violence marked the firm's first attempt to operate this week.

Some 500 members of the owner-operator Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers (FASH) are estimated to be on strike in the Cleveland area, seeking more than the $1.19 raise over three years provided for in Teamsters' proposed national contract. FASH claims some 500 members are off work in the Youngstown area.

A Canton steel hauling company owner said Tuesday the truck strike could force him out of business if it continues two more weeks.

Deputy Treasurer Quits In Dispute Over Ohio Loans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It'll never happen again," Ohio Treasurer John D. Herbert said after announcing he had accepted the resignation of a deputy who admitted over-investing state funds.

"He betrayed my loyalty and confidence in him," Herbert said of Deputy Treasurer Robert S. Gardner, 39, who quit his $20,348 a year job in the heat of a controversy over the state's commercial investments.

Herbert's announcement to newsmen Tuesday night came less than two hours after State Auditor Roger Cloud reported the state went $12.8 million over its $50 million legal limit in commercial investments.

Herbert, who said he never discussed a sale of commercial paper with anyone, always delegating that task to Gardner, said enough of the investments Tuesday to get back within the limit.

Gardner probably went over the limit in investment, Herbert said, "in his zeal to get more interest for the state."

In his letter of resignation, Gardner, a certified public accountant and lawyer, said he made mistakes in judgment.

"I assure you that all of my transactions with the many people in the investment and banking community have been ethical and orally right," he said. "No state funds have been lost or misappropriated and to this date the taxpayers of the state are ahead $35 million in interest earnings," his letter said.

A controversy over the handling of state investments erupted last week when it was disclosed that a firm headed by Columbus attorney-politician Gerald A. Donahue has been collecting fees for getting borrowers and the state together.

Cloud said Donahue's firm apparently arranged for $22 million in loans. The lenders fee, which normally is 4 per cent, for this would be $880,000.

In his audit report Cloud said purchases within the past month that put the treasurer's commercial paper total over $50 million were: King Resources Co., $8 million in two investments, and Jim Walter Corp., $5 million.

KSU Slaying Probe Starts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Justice Department civil rights division lawyers Robert Murphy and Robert Hottel arrived in Cleveland Tuesday to begin a special investigation into the shooting deaths last Monday of four Kent State University students.

The two, assigned to the investigation by Jerris Leonard, chief of the civil rights division, were given an office in the federal building in Cleveland. They said they expected to remain in Cleveland about two weeks.

The two are expected to visit the Kent State campus today and inspect the area where the shootings occurred. They will also question students and Ohio National Guardsmen present when the shootings occurred.

He listed this commercial paper sold Tuesday to bring investments within the $50 million limit:

Mariott Corp., $5 million; Chrysler Corp., two items totaling $5 million and Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., $5 million.

Cloud and Herbert said investigations into the transactions would continue.

Neither could say whether there would be any prosecution. Cloud said he found nothing to lead him to believe the state would lose any money.

Crofters Inc., the firm Donahue is associated with, apparently acted as the go-between in the $22 million worth of transactions, he said.

Donahue is a onetime close political associate of U.S. Sen. William B. Saxbe. He twice served as Saxbe's first assistant when Saxbe was Ohio attorney general.

Donahue also served a stint as tax commissioner under Gov. James A. Rhodes. He left that post and went back to Saxbe's office when Saxbe was seeking re-election in 1966.

U.S. Campus Disturbances Flare Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Student strikes and demonstrations have continued to surge and subside on campuses. At the University of South Carolina, 100 persons were arrested during student-police clashes.

The arrests Tuesday night at the 13,000-student campus in Columbia, S.C., were made after students threw bottles, bricks and firecrackers at city and state police, backed by National Guardsmen, who were imposing a 9 p.m. curfew.

Law enforcement officials used tear gas and clubbed several students. Two guardsmen received minor injuries.

The student strike information center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., reported today that 266 colleges and universities were on strikes of indefinite length.

Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr said in Washington that a majority of the nation's students have turned against the Vietnam war and the Nixon administration because of the dispatch of U.S. troops into Cambodia.

His office announced that student draft deferments will not be jeopardized by the campus strikes and closings.

Strikes at many of the nation's 1,500 four-year colleges and at other educational institutions began last week to protest Nixon's decision to send American combat troops into Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students shot as National Guardsmen attempted to quell a disorder.

All but a small number of the campuses were never officially closed or have been officially opened. However, unofficial student strikes and protests have continued on many campuses with impacts of varying degrees.

Michigan Gov. William Milliken declared a state of emergency in Ypsilanti following two days of disorders by Eastern Michigan University students.

To Name O'Neill Chief Justice Hopeful

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Republican State Central and Executive Committee was expected today to name C. William O'Neill as the Republican candidate for chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court.

O'Neill was named to the post last month following the death of Kingsley A. Taft. He still is a candidate to succeed himself as a justice, and if nominated by the GOP committee will have to withdraw as a candidate for re-election.

High Winds, Tornadoes Damage Homes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent thunderstorms roamed the Great Plains and Midwest today, erupting into heavy rain, high wind and hail. Severe-weather warnings were in effect for much of the night from Kansas to the Great Lakes.

Tornadoes were reported during the night in sections of Iowa, Kansas and Illinois. There were no reports of heavy damage or injuries.

Winds up to 80 miles an hour lashed the Dixon area in Northwestern Illinois and tore down trees and some power lines. Strong winds also damaged several homes at Sabina, Ohio, late Tuesday.

Sabina Mayor Ed Hodge said a member of the volunteer fire department reported that a small funnel cloud touched down on part of the Clinton County town.

No injuries were reported anywhere.

In Sabina, the roof was ripped off one house under construction and heavy rains caused flooding of basements of many homes.

In Greater Cincinnati, nearly 30 extra crews of the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. had helped restore power by midnight to most stricken areas.

Lightning strikes were reported in various communities and one touched off a fire at a home in the Northwestern part of Hamilton County.

A severe thunderstorm watch was in effect for about five hours Tuesday night in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Augusta Cools Off

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — National Guardsmen, state troopers and police enforced a watchful calm today pending renewed City Hall negotiations aimed at stemming further racial violence.

City officials scheduled an afternoon meeting with black leaders, who are demanding amnesty for most of those arrested Monday night during rioting that took six lives and left dozens of businesses looted and burned.

The rioters were protesting the beating death of a 16-year-old black jail prisoner, attributed by police to his two Negro cellmates.

City officials agreed Tuesday to amnesty for those of the 217 arrested who were charged only with violating a curfew imposed after the rioting erupted. They declined, however, to extend the amnesty to those in possession of firearms or looted merchandise.

Black leaders pressed for amnesty for all except those with criminal records.

Impact Of Reuther Death On Auto Talks Eyed

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — With Walter P. Reuther dead, the big question that arises is what his death will mean to upcoming contract talks between his United Auto Workers union and the nation's car makers.

Already some observers on both sides here say Reuther's death in a plane crash has heightened possibilities of a strike—with its impact on the nation's economy.

Their reasoning: Both the union and the industry had taken tough stances even before the accident, and

Gov. William Milliken had spoken of "an anticipated strike in the automobile industry" in an economic report to the Michigan Legislature.

Industry now fears the man who takes Reuther's place at the bargaining table in mid-July may come there determined to prove himself even tougher than his former chief.

The union fears, regardless of who is chosen union president after Reuther's funeral Friday, that the industry will lose no time in putting him to the test.

And there's fear elsewhere the next man may not have Reuther's sense of timing of when to give and take, a knack that won the UAW many firsts in industrial union contracts—a "guaranteed annual income," for instance.

Under the UAW constitution, Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazy became acting president, but the man who will head the union until its 1972 convention will be named by the remaining 25 members of the international executive board. Its next scheduled meeting is June 2.

The impact of auto industry pacts reach far beyond General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. The 1.6 million-member UAW uses them as a pattern in bargaining in scores of auto supplier plants and in the aerospace and agricultural implement industries.

That adds to sideline pressures on both the companies and the union.

The Big Three—GM, Ford and Chrysler—have reported sagging sales and profits the last two quarters. With contracts expiring next Sept. 14, these three firms come up first for negotiations.

UAW leaders say members have been feeling the pinch of the rising cost of living, along with widespread layoffs. They have adopted a wide-ranging set of economic demands to override inflation.

The UAW will be attempting to work upward from a base wage averaging $4.02 hourly and a package of fringe benefits estimated to be worth $1.75 hourly.

Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president and its GM director, said if the union didn't do better than 15 per cent "we're certainly going to have a strike."

Chairman James M. Roche of General Motors, apparently anticipating stiff union demands, said earlier this year the industry (Continued on Page 20) accepted the administrator's decision.

In his letter to the Board, Stambaugh said "... we have shared some accomplishment and a great many problems ... Perhaps one of the most important things a man can realize is when his work ceases to be properly effective and progressive. He recognizes perhaps that the satisfaction he derives from his work is less than it should be and it follows that he is not giving to his employers everything they want and by right should expect. I have reached the conclusion, reluctantly and regretfully, that this is my situation now ... therefore tendering my resignation."

Two representatives each have been chosen from Pickaway County and Ross County boards and three from Chillicothe. This administrative council will now take over the remainder of organization and the individual school boards will be phased out.

On the recommendation of Superintendent Fritz Jacobs, approval was granted to eliminate final exams for seniors and base the final year's standing on a seven instead of an eight point system.

THIS year any seniors in need of the extra points for graduation will be permitted to take the examination. Jacobs commented that class rank and acceptance to colleges normally had already been made prior to the final tests, so it would not affect a student's standing.

Members also accepted 193 seniors for graduation June 7.

Police said Kent police, acting on a tip, recovered the revolver near a bridge in Kent. "The pistol contained two spent shell casings and three live bullets," McCann said.

Kent Police Sgt. Joseph Myers confirmed that a gun was recovered from the river Monday, but said he did not have details except he believed the weapon had been turned over to the FBI.

Myers said he knew "for sure" of three guns confiscated from people arrested off campus "while we were enforcing the curfew."

McCann said a nun doing graduate work at the university reported a bullet crashed through the window of her room and lodged in the wall.

"The angle was such that the bullet had to have been fired from the top of a roof or from an elevated position," he said.

Clarksville Fire Chief Torrance Wenning said the fire that destroyed St. Anthony's Catholic Church and a nearby school cafeteria apparently resulted from lightning. Firemen kept flames from reaching the school which had been evacuated.

Five firemen were treated for smoke inhalation. No other injuries were reported and no damage estimate was given.

Torrential rains caused flash flooding south and southwest of Chicago where Joliet, Ill., was swamped by more than 3 inches of rain. Water ran 2-to-3 feet deep in some streets for a time.

A 20-minute downpour at New Berlin, Wis., a suburb of Milwaukee, produced 2 1/2 inches of rain and flooded numerous intersections.

Hail pounded many areas from the Southern Plains through the Midwest. Baseball-size hailstones bombarded the countryside around Elk City, Okla.

The thunderstorms broke out along a stationary frontal system stretching from Kansas to southern New England. Slight movements of the front produced sometimes radical temperature changes. The mercury fell 24 degrees in 20 minutes Tuesday night at Chicago.

CLEANUP PROJECT — Members of several Pickaway County 4-H clubs have volunteered to tend the grounds at Berger Hospital as a community project. The biweekly event is taken care of by the Sew Straight Teenettes, Nimble Thimbles, Busy Beavers, Rounddown Rangers, Electric Charges and Soil Savers. It is a continuing activity in cooperation with the special countywide beautification project sponsored annually by the county commissioners, Chamber of Commerce and city and county health departments. Wednesday's campaign will include window, attic and garage cleaning.

Brown, Elsea Appointed To Joint Vocational Board

As the last step in the organization of the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational District, members of the Circleville City Board of Education passed final approval declaring their intent to join the district and selected two of its number to serve on the joint board.

Tom Elsea and Forrest Brown were named to fill the two positions for the city school — one a four and one a two-year term — on the initial nine member board.

Two representatives each have been chosen from Pickaway County and Ross County boards and three from Chillicothe. This administrative council will now take over the remainder of organization and the individual school boards will be phased out.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada, too, is having its problems with inflation, which suggests that the persistence of this malady in the United States Economy may not be solely the result of an improper approach to the problem.

Canada, however, is attacking the problem a bit more directly. Unlike the United States, where the defeat of inflation is expected to be a natural result of an economic slowdown Canada is considering direct credit controls.

Moreover, the Canadian government already has developed a program of voluntary restraints on prices and wages that has met with some success during the past few months, although the exact amount cannot be measured.

Here is a comparison of results in the battle against inflation:

Consumer Price Increases: In Canada, nearly 5 per cent, in the United States close to 6 per cent.

Unemployment: In Canada, slightly more than 5 per cent on an annual basis. In the United States, 4.8 per cent in April and rising swiftly.

Industrial Output: In Canada, continuing at a slow pace but showing signs of perking up. In the United States, at a standstill or even falling back some.

Budget: Canada's is in surplus, meaning that the government is restricting economic activity. The U.S. budget also calls for a surplus, but many doubts are arising about the feasibility of this in either fiscal 1970 or 1971.

Perhaps the biggest difference is in the interpretation of economists. Many economists believe the United States is in the midst of a mild recession, based on declines in production. Canada's economy is still expanding.

The two economies are suffering from such similar problems, however, that the approach to the future in one country may have lessons for the other.

In Canada, the government is considering measures that would restrain the economy even more. Higher taxes are an outside possibility for later this year if prices and wages continue to rise.

That possibility becomes less remote when the wage situation is reviewed. New wage contracts have averaged 9 per cent higher this year, threatening to put inflationary pressures beneath prices. Contract negotiations involve twice as many workers this year as last.

The biggest difference between the United States and Canadian approaches is in the attitude toward credit. The government of Prime Minister Trudeau has proposed consumer credit controls and legislation is planned for June.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A YOUNG LADY in Texas abruptly closed her account in the local bank, and the president of same, very much on the job, wrote to ask if the service had proved unsatisfactory. "You couldn't have been nicer or more efficient," she assured him by return mail. "It's just that I've married Account Number 565-219."

From East Germany, comes the story of a dill-witted delegate from Georgia, in the south of Russia, who had come as one of the negotiators for a new trade treaty.

On the third day of the conference he didn't show up, and when he finally re-joined the group just in time for dinner, his chief demanded angrily, "Where have you been?" "I didn't waste my time," replied the delegate proudly. "When I was last here in 1945, our major order was to blow up a bridge. Today was my first chance to carry out that order!"

A student at a college post office was approached by an elderly character who requested, "Will you do me the favor of addressing this post card for me, and write on the front, 'Thinking of you and loving you every minute?'"

The student willingly obliged, then asked, "Is there anything else I can do for you?" The elderly one looked at the card dubiously, then said, "You can! Add at the end, 'Please excuse the terrible handwriting.'"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Both of my children, twins, were born with crossed eyes. When is the perfect time for the eyes to be straightened? Is there any advantage to having them both operated on at the same time?

Mr. Mrs. D. N., Kansas Dear Mr. and Mrs. N.: Cross-eyes are known medically as squint, strabismus and, occasionally, as a cast in the eye. It is not unusual for this faulty development to occur in more than one child in the family, yet each must be studied individually and carefully evaluated before treatment is begun.

One of the most important considerations in finding the ideal time is one that will keep the child from being self-conscious or embarrassed by other children. Children are rarely meaningfully cruel, but they do latch on to anything that is different. This must be avoided.

From the time that it is established that a child has cross-eyes he should be under the constant supervision of an eye specialist. For in many instances, the new modern methods of eye exercises may be beneficial, even if surgery is later performed. Surgery is safe and remarkably successful in most instances. The muscles that control the movements of the eyeball are lengthened and shortened, depending on the special need in each case.

I do believe that there is a psychological advantage in having both children operated on at the same time. They can give each other mutual support. I make it a positive practice never to operate on a child unless the mother stays overnight in the hospital with the child. It is my feeling that such an important experience deserves the feeling of security that only the presence of a parent can give. A child who has known constant security all his young life must not feel that he is suddenly abandoned during this crucial period.

The advantages of double surgery are great, too, for the mother and father who can be spared their own emotional burden of two hospital and surgical experiences.

We have been told that three children out of a class of twenty-seven have developed scarlet fever. Was it necessary for our doctor to worry us with a long course of penicillin?

Mrs. D. F., New York Dear Mrs. F.: Many times

in these columns I have said that anything the doctor does can be considered wrong by some people. Had he casually disregarded your child's exposure to scarlet fever and had your child developed the disease with complications, what would your attitude be towards your doctor? You certainly would have felt far worse if this had occurred.

Actually, your physician wisely began an intensive course of penicillin which destroyed the streptococcus which causes scarlet fever.

The long course of penicillin was not meant to worry you but rather was meant to offer great assurance that your child was being given the greatest benefit of modern medicine. For a moment, assume that your child might have contracted scarlet fever. Certainly your attitude now would be one of gratitude rather than unfounded annoyance.

Sir Walter Scott said "Ill health of body or mind is defeat."

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, May 13, the 133rd day of 1970. There are 232 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1809, Napoleon Bonaparte captured Vienna.

In 1846, the U.S. Congress declared that a state of war existed between the United States and Mexico.

In 1940, Queen Wilhelmina and Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands fled to London ahead of Nazi invaders.

Also in 1940, Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill told his people: "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat."

In 1958, Vice President Richard M. Nixon was attacked by mobs in Caracas, Venezuela. He escaped injury although his limousine was battered by rocks the size of melons.

Ten years ago—Voters in the Belgian Congo were holding their first election in preparation for independence.

Five years ago—India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was on a visit to Moscow.

Dictatorship Of Women

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

What do women want? Here we have the New York State Attorney General, Louis J. Lefkowitz, charging that the Time, Inc., publishing empire practices "sex discrimination."

According to the complaint, which is evidently backed by a hundred female staffers on Time, Life, Fortune and Sports Illustrated, women can't rise to important posts in the kingdom created by the late Henry Luce.

As an alumnus of Time, Inc., I can only say that the Honorable Louis Lefkowitz confuses "the shadow with the substance. I think back to the time when Eliot Janeway, now a respected economic pundit, walked the corridors of the Time-Life Building mastering about the "dictatorship of the Vassar girls." The women under the Luce system, always had the last word about a fact; if they, as researchers, failed to put a dot over any matter of record in a piece of copy, the story couldn't be cleared.

The women did most of the interviewing and the traveling, which means that they had the fun. I wrote articles about Hawaii, the Philippines, Venezuela and Brazil without ever stirring from Rockefeller Center, from notes sent home by Miss Florence Horn. One particular article, titled "Hawaii: the Sugar-Coated Fort," annoyed Mr. Luce no end, possibly because it said some rather strong things about his planter and business friends in the islands. He exploded about Miss Horn's "Tugwellian yawns." (An allusion to Rexford G. Tugwell, prominent New Dealer.) All I could say was that Miss Horn had the facts. The story went as written.

The complaints of the male writers were generally unwelcome, for it was the girls who could produce back-up stuff to convince the editors. Sometimes a strong-minded editor would try to override a stray fact or two. Russell Davenport, the Fortune managing editor who actually made Wendell Willkie as a political figure by writing articles and platforms for him, was as brave as they come.

One summer he kept a pet lion cub that seemed all too ready to go over the verge into adulthood, and the writers who visited the Davenport home for conferences trembled as "kitty" looked over their shoulders. But Russell Davenport blanched one day when a whole phalanx of female researchers descended on his office to complain about the treatment of some political subject.

The women, in short, ruled the roost. As the chief of research on Fortune magazine, Patricia Diver, a delightful gal who could be very feminine when buying a hat or snoring a General Motors tycoon, certainly had as much actual power as the Fortune managing editors, who deferred to her as they never deferred to Harry Luce. When I did a bad story, Pat would inform me that it was a "turkey." I did more than one "turkey" over again to please her and the articles were invariably the better because of her criticism.

On Life, the researchers were bossed by Marian MacPhail, daughter of the New York Yankees' Larry MacPhail. She was Pat Diver all over again, in a picture setting. And it wasn't true that no girl in Time, Inc., could aspire to become a writer. Kay Hammill wrote Fortune articles for years, and they were very good. Carol Loomis came on as a writer after Kay Hammill left. And was Clare Boothe Luce ever turned down when she had a story idea? Or Margaret Bourke-White for a picture sequence? Maggie Bourke-White had even extracted Harry Luce's promise to send her to the moon.

Does the modern "women's lib" breed at Time, Inc., really want to surrender its basic power for the mere trappings of office? Or is this business of the Louis Lefkowitz complaint just a hoax? If it turns out to be for real, I tremble for the future of the Luce empire. What male would dare take a job as a researcher for a "women's lib" writer? He might be the facts, but it would be a contradiction of the natural order if he dared argue the primacy of the fact as against a women's lib opinion.

Angela Lansbury

By BOB THOMAS

A Television Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For 20 years Angela Lansbury played a host of secondary roles in Hollywood films, including so many "Poppins" that she almost became known as the queen of tarts.

Broadway changed all that. After a six-year absence, she is back on the Hollywood stages for a Disney role that could do for her what "Mary Poppins" did for Julie Andrews.

She's starring in "Bedknobs and Broomsticks" for the same "Mary Poppins" team producer Bill Walsh, director Robert Stevenson, writers Walsh and Don DaGradi, and the songwriting Sherman Brothers.

"I play a witch," Miss Lansbury reported between scenes with David Tomlinson, another "Poppins" alumnus. "Not a witchy witch. Sort of an apprentice witch. She studies up on witchcraft, not knowing whether she can exercise her powers. She can."

"Bedknobs," she admitted, is unlike any other of the movies she has made. She is surrounded by the Disney brand of witcraft.

"So much of the photography is trick stuff," she said. "Like flying around on wires, or playing against an eerie yellow screen—the animation characters are put in later. One scene has me watching a football game in which David Tomlinson is the only human player; all others are cartoon figures. I sit in the grandstand conversing with a tiger."

She has five musical numbers in the film, including one that harks back to "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious."

Angela Lansbury has been playing character roles since her first film, "Gaslight," which won her an Academy nomination for supporting actress in 1944. She has had two other nominations. She took Broadway by storm on May 21, 1966, when the musicalized "Auntie Mame" opened at the Winter Garden. The Tony for best musical performance was hers.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

I am a student at the Ohio University Branch in Chillicothe and I would like to express my concern about the Kent State tragedy.

I think that the people of Circleville are being completely apathetic about the current college situation in Ohio. Apathy is the opposite of what students need. They need action. The National Guard has killed four college students, and the typical citizen says, "So what? It wasn't my kid," or "I can't do anything about it." Does the same thing have to happen in Circleville before you are affected? Or maybe your child will be the next victim. Would that wake you up?

I am not saying that the kids were in the right, because they weren't. They broke laws and destroyed property. However, I thought that it was customary for a lawbreaker to be given "a trial by jury," rather than be gunned down by the National guardsmen.

If you are in favor of the students, voice your opinion. Tell America's leaders that you oppose the war, deplore the Kent State slayings, and advocate change. If you are in opposition to the students, write to your congressmen and tell them what you think should be done.

Perhaps they should declare war, since during wartime each student protester could be arrested and charged with treason, which is certainly a better fate than being slain by national guardsmen.

I appeal to the people of Circleville to voice your opinions, please. Maybe if this vast "silent majority" would open its mouth today, the next campus tragedy could be averted, tomorrow. What do you think?

Dear Editor:

As a Mother with two small children, I too am concerned with the events of the last two weeks.

It is shocking how such a small minority of the students could cause so much violence and force our universities to completely shut their doors.

I do agree that there is a lack of communication in many areas to cause some of the trouble, but I don't feel this is the main reason.

In 1965 my husband and I attended a lecture at North High School in Columbus. The main speaker for the evening was Herb Philbrick (I Led Three Lives) former F.B.I. undercover agent. He told of the infiltration of Communists on the college campuses and how much more we would see of it in years to come.

At the time he spoke there were just a few colleges having minor trouble with sit-ins and protests, but he warned of things getting completely out of hand and spreading from one campus to another with violence the end result.

Now, five years later, we are seeing many of these things taking place, and we wonder, where will it end?

Certainly this country does have problems, many problems, but it is still the most wonderful country in the world.

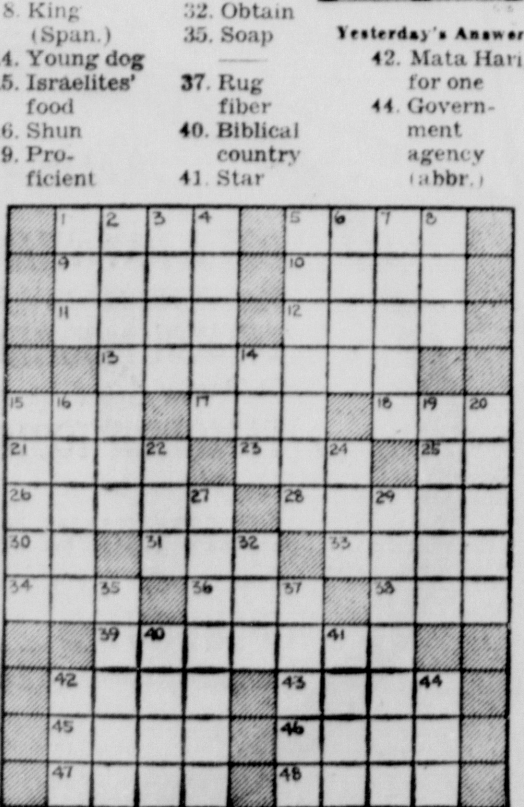

Each and everyone of us, of the silent majority should speak out against these enemies that are trying to destroy the very principles our country was founded on.

Dear Abby: Let Your Dad Handle Brother

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 16-year-old brother. He treats our mother terribly. Just today he pushed her into a wall and made her cry. He curses her, and even hits her with his fist. It's the same with the rest of the family. He is always hitting me and my younger sister. Dad knows my brother is mean, but he doesn't know how mean he really is. Dad has an awful temper and we're afraid of what he'd do.

Last night my mom told my brother not to go out (my dad wasn't home), but he told her to shut up, and he went out anyway. Please don't recommend a doctor because he wouldn't go. I really feel sorry for my mom.

DEAR WORRIED: Your brother is out of control and it will take more than a letter from Dear Abby to straighten him out. I'm sorry for your mother, but no parent loses authority all at once. Your brother must have been allowed to get away with his bullying tactics some time ago, until finally he has the whole family terrorized. This matter is too far gone for the women in your family to handle. Tell Dad and let him handle it!

DEAR ABBY: On a couple of those late television shows where guests come on and talk, I've seen some transvestites.

State Agency Plan Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Creation of a state agency to oversee low cost housing construction was up for review before the House Local Government Committee Tuesday.

Both the Local Government and the Urban Affairs - State Government committees met today and both had six bills to take up but most of them were considered minor measures.

The Ohio Housing Development Agency would be created under the bill being discussed in the Local Government Committee. Rep. Jim Thorp, R-90 Alliance, is committee chairman.

The bill would establish a housing rotary fund and advance funds for low cost housing construction. It also provides for tax exemption for lands involved in housing projects.

All the bills had hearings before the legislature recessed in early April.

hours a day competing with several million suburbanites to get to and from work in Moscow.

He lives in a new high-rise apartment block in Golitsino, 25 miles west of the capital. Every morning he takes a bus to the railroad station, rides the electric suburban train to Moscow's Fili subway station, and transfers to a train that takes him to the Arbat station in the city center.

He rises early and comes home late after a 9 to 6 day clerking in a government ministry. His nerves are frayed from body contact with rush-hour crowds. Trains and bus schedules keep him hopping. His wife nags him because he never spends enough time with the kids.

His plight bears startling similarities to that of suburbanites commuting to the concrete caverns of New York or Chicago.

Ivan is not in the suburbs—by choice, however.

He would love to live in Moscow, the "big village." He cannot find an apartment in the crowded city, so he commutes.

Russian commuters have the same gripes as their Western counterparts—station delays, poor scheduling, inadequate feeder transportation to suburban stations, poor heating of trains in winter and bad ventilation in summer, uncomfortable seats, standing room only at rush hours and lack of a buffet, the Soviet equivalent of a club car.

The only difference is fares and, in the case of the Moscow subway system, cleanliness. The Soviet Union boast one of the cheapest transportation networks in the world.

Ivan's ride from Golitsino to Moscow costs him 40 kopeks one way. That's about 45 cents.

The subway takes one anywhere in the city center for 5 kopeks. Buses cost the same, electric trolley cars 4 kopeks.

The Soviet capital has seven million residents and only about 80,000 privately owned automobiles. Most Muscovites rely on public transport to cross the sprawling city, covering a rough circle about 25 miles across.

The oblast, or district, has 5.7 million more people. About half of these commute regularly to the city for work or shopping. Since the district car-owner ratio is even lower, most ride electric trains.

Moskovskaya Pravda, a capital newspaper, recently acknowledged that city and suburban transport "falls far short of accommodating the great migration of inhabitants to the city center."

It blamed slow planning and construction, financing snarlups and inadequate use of funds for "a critical rush-hour situation."

Police said Mr. and Mrs. James George were arrested in a shopping center where several of the bills were passed. They said the Georges had several more on them.

Career Conference Series Covers Home Economics

The third in the series of Career Conferences for seventh grade girls sponsored by the Circleville Branch American Assn. of University Women was held Thursday following school.

Mrs. Robert Perry served as chairman for Careers in Home Economics. Slides, prepared by Ohio State University, were viewed showing some of the 1001 careers available in this field.

Mrs. Glenn McCoy, dietician at Berger Hospital, stated that girls interested in people, science and food would enjoy this field. A dietician might do extension work, as in test kitchens, nutritional research, institutional management or medical dietetics. In her work as a medical dietician a girl may do administrative (meal planning, purchasing, serving) or therapeutic (working with patients and their physician) or both, depending on the size of the hospital.

Next speaker was Mrs. C. Thomas Sackinger, who has used her college training as a representative for the electric company and has also taught home economics in high school. As a worker in the business world she helped set up cooking shows. Mrs. Sackinger prefers the term homemaking to home economics as being more descriptive of the courses. In junior high school, classes offered might include units on clothing construction and how to choose clothes, food, money management and child care. In high school, girls can take the same courses but in more detail such as foods which would include preserving and other courses would include choosing and caring of appliances, family living and personality study. In college, a girl would take the same courses only in greater detail and would add chemistry, biology and bacteriology.

Mrs. Robert Scherer explained how she feels about majoring in home economics. She hasn't used her college degree in a paying job but knows that she has the training to obtain a job if she ever needs one or later when her children are older and she needs to fill her time. In the meantime everything she learned in college has helped her to be a better wife and mother and to find fulfillment in her role as homemaker.

Mrs. Perry's first job was in food research. Part of her work was to dream up new recipes, 90 per cent of which are never accepted. Ideas may be gleaned from cook books or just out of your head. Other jobs in research might call for quality control such as working on taste panels. Mrs. Perry also worked as an Extension Agent. This involved working with homemaker groups, 4-H club members, conducting special classes for women to learn tailoring, beginning sewing, etc.

The last Career Conference will cover elementary and secondary teaching and the profession of librarian and is chaired by Miss Cheryl Wood. It will be held this Wednesday in Room 110 at Circleville Junior High School at the close of school.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dumm, 411 S. Court St., entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jay White and children, Helen, Johnnie and Donna to a Mother's Day dinner and lunch. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Miner and children, Soni and Tommy were at the home for lunch.

Other callers during the day were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Furness of Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. Paul White and Julia, Mrs. Ellen West, Mr. and Mrs. Gene White and children, Danny, Jimmy and Jodi.

Solons Pushed Against War

College Students Stage Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of college students, schooled in legislative lobby techniques, are popping into Capitol Hill offices and hinting at a failing grade at the polls for congressmen flunking their antiwar test.

Encouraged and sometimes accompanied by sympathetic university and college administrators and faculty, students have come from campuses across the nation to talk about America's role in Southeast Asia with friends and foes in the Senate and House.

"We may be able to make some converts," Charles I. Schotland, acting president of Brandeis University, told more than 500 young men and women from Eastern schools who jammed into a House hearing room Monday. He said they represented 35 states.

Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., told the students to ask congressmen "what they are doing in terms of closing out this war now—and tell them if they continue to support the war you are going to oppose them in their districts" when they seek reelection. That drew a burst of applause.

At other meeting rooms scattered across Capitol Hill, groups gathered from such campuses as Yale, California, Virginia and Minnesota universities, plus a host of smaller schools.

Switching from street demonstrations to lobbying in the halls of Congress, the students sought out home-state senators and representatives for face-to-face discussions—some of them private, most of them public.

Many students had done their homework. They were prepared with voting records and home-district strengths and weaknesses of their congressmen; they had background information on key resolutions.

They also were boning up on the language of parliamentary procedure to keep track of measures moving through the legislative process.

Industry Allowed To Vote Panel Choices, HEW Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industry has been allowed to veto prospective members of at least two major government scientific advisory committees in the past five years, Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare has acknowledged.

Involved were vetoes over positions the surgeon general's committee on smoking and health and the surgeon general's committee on behavioral effects of television violence, Finch said.

"In each case, members of the affected industries were given a long list of potential candidates for the committee and

OEA Presidents Study Failure Of School Votes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Saying the May 5 election results "only worsened Ohio's serious school financial crisis," the Ohio Education Association has called an emergency meeting of teacher association presidents from 50 districts.

OEA President Louis Koenig said the teacher representatives will convene in Columbus Thursday for an over-all look at the status of school finance in Ohio.

The teachers will be from districts which have lost operating levies more than once, face unusual financial problems or where schools may close due to inadequate funds.

Less than half of the school operating levies on the May 5 ballot passed. Of 172 requests for additional school millage, 90 were rejected.

were invited to indicate any doubts they might have concerning the scientific impartiality of any of the individuals on that list," Finch said in a letter to Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont.

"When the surgeon general selected members for service on these advisory committees, he did not select individuals to whom there were objections raised by members of the industry," he wrote. "The government was looking for individuals without a previous commitment to one side of the controversy or another."

Finch said the broadcasting industry objected to seven of 40 candidates for the television violence committee. No indication was given of the number of smoking and health panelists vetoed by cigarette manufacturers.

Antismoking forces and critics of television violence were not given similar veto powers, HEW sources said. Furthermore, Finch's April 22 letter was the first public acknowledgment of the veto practice.

"As a general rule, HEW does not provide industry with an opportunity to review nominations for membership to an advisory committee affecting that industry," Finch wrote. "Nevertheless, there have been exceptions to the general policy when it is in the public interest."

The secretary said vetoes were provided "to protect the government from the charge of establishing a biased committee."

"It was probable in each case that the report of the advisory committee would contain substantial criticism of the industry," he said.

"In addition, since protection of the First Amendment rights of the television industry is so important, it was considered essential that the government be protected from any possible charge that it was intimidating the broadcasting industry," Finch wrote.

The smoking panel reviewed some 11,000 research reports and concluded in 1964 there was a causal link between cigarettes and lung cancer. The violence committee has yet to report.

Members of the 12-man television panel include Thomas Coffin, a vice president of the National Broadcasting Co., and Joseph Klapper, a special research director for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

U.S. Baptists Open Meet

CINCINNATI (AP) — The American Baptist Ministers' Council, with delegates from 6,200 churches, opens its 63rd annual meeting here today at the Convention-Exposition Center.

The Rev. Dr. Thomas Kilgore Jr., president of the ABC, will speak at the opening session tonight of the five-day meeting.

About 3,000 American Baptist women also meet today in its annual session, as does the American Baptist Ministers' Council.

Other bodies convening during the five days will be the Division of World Mission Support, which is the fund-raising arm of the convention; the council of state and city secretaries, which are composed of all the executive heads of the 40 state, city and regional divisions of the denomination throughout the United States; and the state

Spiro Agnew's 'Home Town' Proud Of Departed Son

By PHILIP DOPOULOS
Associated Press Writer
GARGALIANOLI, Greece (AP) — The citizens of this town in southern Greece do not dissent, do not criticize their government and they abide by the law. And Spiro T. Agnew is considerably more than a household word.

Both the vice president's grandfather, Spiro Anagnostopoulos, and his father, Theofrastos Anagnostopoulos, were born here. In 1911 Theofrastos decided he didn't want to become a notary public like his father and sailed for the United States.

Most of the 7,000 residents of Gargalianoli don't seem to mind that Theofrastos' son altered his last name to Agnew. By becoming vice president, Spiro T. Agnew made their town something more than just another remote spot in the rugged, hilly Peloponnese.

A large oil painting of the vice president hangs in the Town Hall, overshadowing a photograph of Premier George Papadopoulos, strong man of Greece's army-backed dictatorship.

Mayor Dionysios Panagopoulos, who also runs a hardware store, says with pride that Agnew "put this town on the map."

"The town hasn't really changed much since Agnew's father emigrated except for a new high school built in 1939," said Panagopoulos. "But the vice president will find warmth and hospitality if he ever comes here."

"He almost made it here last year," said 58-year-old Andreas Anagnostopoulos, a hardware owner who is Agnew's cousin and his only close relative in Gargalianoli. "He wrote last August and said he might come for a quick visit. But apparently he had more important things to attend to at the time. If he comes, I'm sure the townspeople will accord him a welcome never before seen in this town."

"We write to each other often. I write in Greek, my cousin in English."

Agnew, an outspoken critic of dissenting American students, last year started a scholarship fund for talented sons of Gargalianoli in memory of his grandfather Spiro.

There is little chance that the scholarship will breed young malcontents. Gargalianoli is a conservative town.

School boys must have closely cropped haircuts every month and girls wear their skirts at knee length. Women are expected to stay at home and tend to household chores, while their menfolk spend their hours relaxing at coffee shops.

Students are not permitted to attend movies during the school year.

Three years of record crops in Japan have left 32,000 government storage bins overflowing with rice. Officials may use abandoned mine shafts and World War II air raid shelters to store the excess,

Fuller To Be Oberlin President

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Robert W. Fuller, 33, faculty dean at Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., will be named Oberlin College's 10th president, the Cleveland Plain Dealer said it learned Tuesday.

No confirmation was available from the college. The Plain Dealer said Fuller is expected to be approved by the college's board of trustees on June 5.

Fuller would succeed Robert K. Carr, Oberlin's president for the last 10 years, who leaves

June 30 to accept a post with the American Council on Education. Fuller told the Plain Dealer he knew he was being considered for the job, but had not received any official word from Oberlin and did not feel it was appropriate to make any statement at this time.

Naval Patrol Off Cambodia To Block Red Supply Route

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new U.S.-South Vietnamese naval patrol is intended to prevent the North Vietnamese from re-establishing a major channel of supplies from the sea to their forces in Cambodia, Pentagon officials say.

A major seaborne source of supplies for the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in Cambodia was choked off some weeks ago when the new Phnom Penh regime denied the use of the Port of Sihanoukville for such aid. Nixon administration sources have reported North Vietnamese troops were trying to open a new supply route from their inland Cambodian base areas to the Gulf of Siam east of Sihanoukville.

False Alarms

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Louisville Fire Department says that malicious false alarms now account for 30 per cent of all fire runs. The Department lists 2,688 prank calls last year, more than three times the number in the preceding five-year period.

The enemy's apparent intent was to gain control of a coastal section where supplies could be landed from ships over the beach, officials said. The new naval patrol along a 100-mile stretch of the Cambodian coast is designed to close off approaches to that area by North Vietnamese shipping, officials said.

The operation is described as an extension of long-standing naval patrols off the South Vietnamese coast. Authorities claim these patrols have largely succeeded in preventing seaborne infiltration of weapons and other supplies carried down from North Vietnam in various kinds of craft.

Defense authorities said they had no information indicating any sizable number of North Vietnamese vessels were headed for the Cambodian coast. But they called the patrol a preventive measure against possible future shipments.

The widened naval patrol appeared part of an unfolding allied plan to isolate and finally destroy the Cambodian base complex running along the South Vietnamese border. The other segments of that plan are ground drives into the sanctuaries and clearing of the Mekong River.

Pentagon officials professed to know nothing about a South Vietnamese naval blockade Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said Tuesday extends all along the Cambodian coast to Sihanoukville, well beyond the stated limit of the U.S. naval patrol.

Senate Takes Center Stage In War Fight

14 The Circleville Herald, Wed. May 13, 1970
Circleville, Ohio

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The center of national controversy over much of its existence, has played the role to the hilt in the opening months of the Nixon administration.

Bitter fights over the Vietnam war, appointments to the Supreme Court, national tax policy and civil rights have come to swirling climaxes on the Senate floor or in its committee rooms.

The fact that the Senate is the primary pit for debate on public issues—a fact lost on few, if any, presidents of the United States—finally has dawned on the youth of America intent upon questioning the judgment of their elders.

When the Vietnam Moratorium Committee concluded that street demonstrations no longer were an effective tactic for protesting the war, and its leaders went their separate ways, one of them signed on with the National Student Association to organize students for political action, specifically to work in this summer's campaigns for the Senate. To David Hawk it was a simple choice. "The Senate," he said, "is where the action is."

As if heeding his advice, this day finds hundreds of college-aged youngsters trudging the corridors of the Capitol, practically stumbling over themselves as they buttonhole congressmen and senators, urging a vote against President Nixon's policies in Southeast Asia.

While members of the House are getting their share of advice, the young people are concentrating on the Senate, urged on by such senators as Democrat Richard Hughes of Iowa, who has instructed some of them in the techniques of lobbying, and Democrat George McGovern of South Dakota, who made it plain why the Senate should be their No. 1 target.

"This is where we have a chance to stop the war," McGovern told them.

Whether the Senate has a chance or not it is likely to spend the next several weeks trying as it takes up a series of proposals—to cut off funds for the war in Cambodia, to repeal the Tonkin Gulf resolution, to set limits on the amount of "excess" military equipment the Pentagon can hand over to friendly nations—in a head-to-head fight with the Nixon administration.

It will not be the first confrontation between the two, nor is it likely to be the last.

While few presidents have had reason to view the Senate as anything more than a cross they had to bear, none has had more reason to view it sourly than Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon.

In fact, the present series of disputes began before Nixon when the senators decided their old leader, Johnson, couldn't have his friend, Abe Fortas, as chief justice of the United States.

Fortas, earlier confirmed as one of the high court's justices, resigned last year after disclosures concerning outside financial activities.

Johnson went on to have trouble with the Senate over the 10 per cent income surtax and other fiscal matters, an area that has continued to produce conflict between the senators and Nixon.

But it's the Vietnam war that has made the sparks fly. Not since the century's second decade when President Woodrow Wilson fought and lost over the League of Nations have foreign relations been so bitter and divisive an issue between the White House and Senate.

At first, in the mid-1960s, the major antiwar senators were Wayne Morse of Oregon and Alaska's Ernest Gruening, both Democrats and both losers in 1968 re-election bids.

But the opposition has grown and some say makes up a majority of the Senate. At the very least it contains some of the most prominent names: J. W. Fulbright, the Arkansas democrat who heads the Foreign Relations Committee; Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Senate Republican dean George D. Aiken of Vermont, Kentucky Republican John Sherman Cooper, Edward M. Kennedy.

For Johnson, who served with many of these members and helped to raise some of them to leadership positions, the opposition was particularly galling.

His decision not to seek re-election certainly was helped along by the antiwar campaign mounted against him by a comparatively junior Democratic senator, Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

Nixon is plagued by the Senate over more than just his war policies. Like Johnson he has had difficulty over his Supreme Court appointments, perhaps even more trouble.

Nixon dropped another decision to the Senate with his unsuccessful attempt to make the 1965 Voting Rights act extension apply nationwide rather than just to the original seven Southern states.

The President also came out only a half-winner over a massive appropriations bill for education. His veto of the original bill was upheld in the Senate, but Nixon was forced to follow with a compromise much higher than what he wanted.

Why does the Senate, which, constitutionally, has no more power than the House, wield such strength?

One answer—the Senate in recent decades has become a major breeding ground for White House occupants with four of the last five presidents, including Nixon, having served in the chamber. Most of the 1972 Democratic hopefuls sit in the Senate today.

So, ambitious young politicians turn their attention to the Senate, and so does the news media.

Other advantages the Senate enjoys over the House in the race for the spotlight—unlimited debate, unlimited right to offer amendments to any bill, less frequent re-election campaigns—all offer a senator more mobility and a wider scope for comment on any current national or world problem.

The Senate-White House relationship has not been one of constant war and the President has often been the winner, but there is no doubt the Senate has and will continue to play a major role in shaping the decisions in meeting the turmoil of the times.

Judge Hears Seven Juvenile Traffic Cases

Seven Pickaway County youths appeared before Judge Guy Cline recently in the Pickaway County Juvenile Court.

Cited for driving while their licenses were suspended by the court were two Circleville boys, Christopher, Stewart, 17, of 112 Seyfert Ave., was cited by local officers and fined $10 on the charge. Robert D. Compton, 17, of 537 Edgewood Drive was picked up by Franklin County authorities for speeding and driving while his license was restricted by the court. The first charge was dropped, but Compton lost his driving privileges for three months.

Jain D. Griffey, 17, of 465 Watt St., was cited for reckless operation when he struck a utility pole on N. Court St. His license was suspended for 30 days and he was ordered to make restitution to the utility company.

A 16-year-old South Bloomfield lad, Steven C. Marshall, lost his license for 30 days after he was cited for a stop sign violation.

Dewey J. Hiles Jr., 16, of South Bloomfield, paid $10 of a $50 fine with the balance suspended and lost his driving privileges for six months for driving without a license.

A youth from Lockbourne AFB, Billy J. Tate, 17, was fined $50 and had his license suspended for six months for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle. $30 of his fine was suspended. Larry E. Dearmon, 17, Ashville, was ordered to pay $10 for driving on a temporary permit without a licensed driver. His license was also suspended for four months after he receives it.

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Godfrey had a little difficulty hooking up his antipollution cause with his CBS special Tuesday night.

At the end, Godfrey was squinting into a Hawaiian sunset and telling us that maintaining the delicate ecological balance was up to each of us. But it was difficult to figure out what he wanted us to do about the training of porpoises or about an undersea experimental station, two subjects well explored in the special. The program also contained some fine film footage of undersea life.

"Arthur Godfrey's America: The Ocean Frontier" was the title of the program and it was a curious mélange of the stuff that "Flipper," "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" and the Jacques Cousteau series were made of. There was also the exuberant Godfrey in scuba gear, steering a sailboat against the wind and admiring the surf but always telling us to keep the air and water pure and the population down.

The hour bore some tell-tale signs that it was a pilot for a future series. It was, by and large, interesting—porpoises are always fun to watch and marine photography is almost always fascinating.

Half of "60 Minutes" on CBS was devoted to two revealing and timely Mike Wallace interviews.

The first involved Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel who talked about his letter to President Nixon criticizing administration relations with youth and amplified his concern about getting through Nixon aides to the President. He said that he had not received an answer to his letter, swore he had no idea who leaked the communication to the press.

"Youth must be heard," said Hickel. "If you listen you will find a new thought . . . As you get older you sort of get locked in on ideas."

It was followed by a talk with Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and his wife Martha which was taped before the Kent State tragedies. Mitchell expressed conviction that outside forces were contributing to the present unrest, said he favored the confidential nature of reporters' notes and sources and believed the trend was toward greater civil rights rather than repression.

Wallace asked Mrs. Mitchell how her husband reacted to her recently publicized statements and telephone call criticizing Sen. J. W. Fulbright.

"My husband," said Mrs. Mitchell, "permits me to do what I feel I would like to do."

The attorney general backed her up.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge Harry A. Blackmun's 94-0 confirmation by the Senate brings the Supreme Court up to full strength and probably bends it a little further toward the right.

For the first time in a year, since Abe Fortas was pressured to quit by allegations of ethical impropriety, the court has the nine members it needs to resolve close issues that split the justices 4 to 4.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, at the same time, now has at hand in Blackmun an old friend who is similarly middle-aged, Midwestern, white Protestant and of modest origins.

As a starter, then, Burger at least can hope the new man is of a like mind and available to help fulfill President Nixon and Burger's goal—slow down the court's drive for social reform.

The chief justice, by far the most conservative member of the court, put his philosophy best last weekend in New York when he said in a speech that the law is not geared for "giant leaps forward."

Burger said the high court is "hardly the body to be entrusted with the destinies of a free people." And he said judges should not confuse their jobs with those of legislators.

This is the same sort of restraint Blackmun has demonstrated in his 11 years as a federal appeals court judge. It's probably what attracted him to Nixon and to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

The judge's opinions give off hints here and there, in civil rights cases particularly, that Blackmun the man wanted to go further than Blackmun the judge would allow.

He could, on the highest court, possibly feel more motivated to give freer rein to his feelings. With some emotion he told the Senate Judiciary Committee what he had learned most since being nominated was that the Supreme Court is considered "a bastion of freedom" by ordinary Americans.

And yet Blackmun assured the senators he would try to keep his personal ideas and philosophies out of his decisions. For instance, he said despite personal qualms about the death penalty he thought reform should best be left to state legislatures and not the courts.

This kind of struggle, between instinct and self-restraint, is commonplace with many judges and justices. Those who are especially geared to ensuring "fairness"—Potter Stewart, for instance—seem, by their votes, to straddle between liberal and conservative positions.

Blackmun's record to date indicates he will carry this struggle with him to Washington and, like Stewart, come up occasionally on the liberal side. Unless he changes radically, however, this adds up, over-all, to a hesitant but decided conservatism.

Building Freezes Hit Bellaire, Olmsted Falls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Building freezes have been slapped on Bellaire in Belmont County and Olmsted Falls near Cleveland until the two cities begin work on sewer improvements.

The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board Tuesday ordered Bellaire to have sewer work under way by Oct. 13, when officials were told to reappear before the board.

Olmsted Falls was ordered to appear before the board April 21, 1971, to report progress made in its sewer program.

The village of Obetz in Franklin County, under a building freeze imposed earlier, was told to have its sewer system under construction by Sept. 9, when its officials must appear again.

Montreal, Denver Selected 1976 Olympic Cities

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Two North American cities—Montreal and Denver—have been selected as sites for the 1976 Olympics.

The International Olympic Committee, in an unexpected move, picked Montreal Tuesday over Moscow and Los Angeles for the 1976 Summer Games. Denver got the nod for the Winter Olympics.

There was elation, naturally, from Montreal and mile-high Denver, which will celebrate the 100th year of Colorado statehood as the entire United States marks its 200th anniversary.

The Soviet Union claimed Montreal's selection was "contrary to logic and common sense... a blow to the Olympic movement and its ideals."

"We were the victims of the Cold War," said Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles. "The committee apparently didn't want to take sides between the United States and Russia and took the easy way out."

The Olympic Games have never been held in a Communist country and the decision against Moscow was obviously a blow to Soviet national pride. Tass, the official Soviet news agency, fumed and fussed about the vote, but there were no indications from Tass that the Russians would boycott the Olympics.

Yorty, in expressing unhappiness, said he considered the decision even more of a shock to the Russians. "They probably hardly dare to go home."

Moscow led on first ballot but did not have the required majority. That vote was 28 for the Russian capital, 24 for Montreal and 17 for Los Angeles. On the second ballot, with Los Angeles eliminated, Montreal got 41 votes and Moscow 28 with one vote voided.

Denver won the Winter Games on the third ballot, defeating Sion, Switzerland 39-30. Other cities bidding for the Winter Olympics of 1976 were Vancouver, British Columbia, and Tampere, Finland. Vancouver had been the pre-meeting favorite but, since no nation has ever been the site for Winter and Summer games in that same Olympic year, lost out when Montreal surprisingly won the Summer Olympics.

The IOC usually picks the sites some six years in advance. The 1972 Summer Olympics will be staged at Munich, Germany. Sapporo, Japan will be the site for the 1972 Winter Games. The cost of staging the Olympics is staggering. Los Angeles, which had the Summer Games in 1932, claims it is the only city that hasn't lost money.

Montreal, however, contends it won't lose money. Jean Drapeau, mayor of the predominantly French speaking city of 2½ million population, says the Olympics won't cost Canadian taxpayers a dime.

Drapeau pledged to build an 80,000-seat stadium, an Olympic village, a swimming pool and a press center to go with the Canadian city's existing athletic and housing facilities.

The Montreal mayor estimated the press center and Olympic village will cost $12 million but he says both facilities can be converted to low-rental housing and qualify for funds under provincial urban renewal legislation.

LINKSMEN — Ready for another match on the home course at Pickaway Country Club are the members and coach of the Circleville High School golf team. From the left are Greg Heiskell, Mark Frericks, Coach Steve Brudzinski, Dave Grigg and Mike Vaughan. Dave Haradon and Jeff Palm were absent when the picture was taken. The Tigers will end their season Friday when they travel to Hamilton Township to match pars with the Rangers.

Tigers Fail To Qualify In Sectional

Circleville shot a team total of 407 in the sectional tournament Tuesday at Stoney Creek and failed to qualify for the Central District Golf Tournament.

Eastmore took top honors with 334, Walnut Ridge was second shooting 340, Bexley had 353 for third and Washington C. H. finished fourth at 346.

The top four teams qualified for the Central District Golf Tournament Friday at Raymond Memorial Course in Columbus.

Bexley's sharpshooter, Robert Reinhorn, took medalist honors with a round of 78.

PLAYING in a steady downpour the Tigers linksmen found lots of trouble and few pars to shoot themselves out of contention.

Greg Heiskell was low man for the Tigers shooting 43-46-89, Mike Vaughan had 50-46-96, Mark Frericks, 55-53-108 and Dave Grigg 56-58-114.

Circleville will host Lancaster tonight at Pickaway Country Club and will end the season Friday at Hamilton Township.

Seniors Mike Vaughan, Dave Haradon and Jeff Palm will be teeing up for the last time for the Red and Black.

Lambert was the complete player for the Vikings and team leader. He was leading scorer in the Metropolitan League and averaged over 30 points a game.

Banks Homers, Cubs Edge Braves, 4-3

By DICK JOYCE

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ernie Banks has reached another plateau while Richie Allen is reaching for the sky.

The 39-year-old Banks banged out his 500th career homer Tuesday in helping the Chicago Cubs edge the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings.

Allen unloaded a 450-foot blast that carried more than 60 feet above the Busch Stadium left field wall to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I don't know about distance and all that," said Allen, the once-unhappy Phillie, "but I will say there's nothing too good for the fans of St. Louis."

In other National League games Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh 5-3, San Diego edged San Francisco 6-5, Houston downed Los Angeles 8-3 and New York beat Montreal 8-4.

In slamming his 11th homer of the season and third in three games, Allen joined four others who have reached the upper deck in St. Louis — Willie McCovey, Orlando Cepeda, Mike Shannon and Deron Johnson.

Shannon commented: "Mine was a high fly. Richie will hit some further than that one, you can bet. I've already seen him hit some in practice."

Joe Hague and Allen drove in four runs apiece while Lou Brock collected four hits in backing up Chuck Taylor's four-hit relief pitching through seven innings.

Banks' homer came in the second inning off Pat Jarvis for his third of the season, putting him with eight others in the 500-club, headed by Babe Ruth's 714.

He admitted that the pressure to hit No. 500 was getting to him. "I was thinking about it on and off the field almost all the time," said the man socked his first homer on Sept. 20, 1953 against Gerry Staley in St. Louis. "Before games Leo Durocher and others on the team would talk to me. They could tell it was building up."

Silent Screen Gets Blinkers To Help Him Regain Form

BALTIMORE (AP)—Blinkers have been prescribed as the possible long-shot remedy needed for Silent Screen to regain the form which made him racing's 2-year-old champion of 1969.

"It's a shot in the dark — maybe only one chance in 100 that it will work," trainer J. Bond conceded today. "But we've got to take a chance."

The first test of the blinkers will come at Pimlico Saturday in the 1 3/16 mile Preakness, the richest of the Triple Crown races which will gross more than $200,000 and provide the winner with $149,300 if 13 start as expected.

"Going for all that money. I'm a little shaky wondering if I'm doing right," Bond said. "I'd feel like a fool if the blinkers make him run worse. Sometimes they help: sometimes they hurt."

Silent Screen finished fifth in the 1 1/4 mile Kentucky Derby, faltering in the stretch after being suddenly thrust into the lead when the speed horses quit.

That wasn't the first time the 3-year-old colt from Sonny Werblin's Elberon Farm failed after gaining the lead, and it set Bond to thinking.

YMCA To Hold Awards Night

The second annual YMCA Awards Presentation Night on May 20 will feature Charles Wareham, general manager of the Columbus Jets, as guest speaker.

The 7 to 9 p.m. YMCA Program, will include a presentation by Wareham, a movie on baseball highlights, a light snack and the awarding of 35 trophies. Five Jet Youth Season Tickets, a YMCA Youth Membership and other door prizes will be given away.

Gra-Y trophies will be presented to individual sportsmanhood winners, the team sportsmanhood winner and the Gra-Y Basketball League Winner.

Trophies will also be awarded to winners of the YMCA's Ping-Pong Tournament held on April 18.

Individual trophies will be presented to the Celtic Team members, winners of the YMCA Sr. High Basketball League.

The YMCA Program is open to all boys, and a special invitation is extended to their dads.

Reservations must be made by calling the YMCA (474-8321) on or before May 18, and may be paid for at the door the night of the awards presentation.

Brock collected four hits in backing up Chuck Taylor's four-hit relief pitching through seven innings.

Banks' homer came in the second inning off Pat Jarvis for his third of the season, putting him with eight others in the 500-club, headed by Babe Ruth's 714.

He admitted that the pressure to hit No. 500 was getting to him. "I was thinking about it on and off the field almost all the time," said the man socked his first homer on Sept. 20, 1953 against Gerry Staley in St. Louis. "It's a shot in the dark — maybe only one chance in 100 that it will work," trainer J. Bond conceded today. "But we've got to take a chance."

The first test of the blinkers will come at Pimlico Saturday in the 1 3/16 mile Preakness, the richest of the Triple Crown races which will gross more than $200,000 and provide the winner with $149,300 if 13 start as expected.

"Going for all that money. I'm a little shaky wondering if I'm doing right," Bond said. "I'd feel like a fool if the blinkers make him run worse. Sometimes they help: sometimes they hurt."

Silent Screen finished fifth in the 1 1/4 mile Kentucky Derby, faltering in the stretch after being suddenly thrust into the lead when the speed horses quit.

That wasn't the first time the 3-year-old colt from Sonny Werblin's Elberon Farm failed after gaining the lead, and it set Bond to thinking.

Brock collected four hits in backing up Chuck Taylor's four-hit relief pitching through seven innings.

Banks' homer came in the second inning off Pat Jarvis for his third of the season, putting him with eight others in the 500-club, headed by Babe Ruth's 714.

He admitted that the pressure to hit No. 500 was getting to him. "I was thinking about it on and off the field almost all the time," said the man socked his first homer on Sept. 20, 1953 against Gerry Staley in St. Louis. "Before games Leo Durocher and others on the team would talk to me. They could tell it was building up."

Silent Screen Gets Blinkers To Help Him Regain Form

BALTIMORE (AP)—Blinkers have been prescribed as the possible long-shot remedy needed for Silent Screen to regain the form which made him racing's 2-year-old champion of 1969.

Orioles Defeat Minnesota, 5-4

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
With swift Rod Carew dancing off first base, a Minnesota teammate perched 90 feet from home and Harmon Killebrew swinging his big club, the Twins had all the makings of a pat hand.

Then Bill Rigney placed his bet ... and the Baltimore Orioles scooped up another stack of chips.

Pete Richert, summoned from the bullpen in the midst of a ninth inning Minnesota uprising Tuesday night, stranded the tying run at third by kissing off Killebrew and Carew with one pitch to save a 5-4 victory for the torrid Orioles.

Richert fired a third strike past Killebrew, and Carew was doubled up trying to steal second for the final out, giving the Orioles their eighth straight victory.

"I gambled they wouldn't strike out Killebrew," said Twins' manager Rigney, who had flashed the steal sign to Carew. "They're all lousy plays when they don't work."

While Baltimore maintained its six-game lead in the American League East, the Twins slipped into second place in the West, one game behind the California Angels, who rallied for four ninth inning runs to nip Boston 6-5.

Oakland topped Washington 5-3 in 11 innings; the New York Yankees downed Milwaukee 9-5 and the Chicago White Sox whipped Detroit 7-2 in other AL action. Kansas City was rained out at Cleveland.

Jim Holt launched Minnesota's ninth-inning bid by drawing a leadoff walk and then beating the throw to second on Cesar Tovar's sacrifice bunt. Eddie Watt, working in relief of winner Mike Cuellar, went to a 2-2 count on the lefthand hitting Carew before being replaced by Richert, a southpaw.

"I wanted Watt to face Killebrew," said Orioles' skipper Earl Weaver. "But when he gets the 2-2 count, you have to throw him a strike anyway and I'd rather have a left-hander throw against Carew."

Weaver's strategy began to pay off when Richert got Carew to bounce into a force at second. Holt took third on the play, but got no farther as the Twins' run-and-hit gamble backfired.

Frank Robinson and Don Buford each drove in two Baltimore runs and Elrod Hendricks collected four of the Orioles' 14 hits off loser Jim Perry and two relievers.

Billy Cowan capped California's ninth-inning flurry with a two-run single, giving the Angels their sixth victory in seven games. Tony Conigliaro hit a two-run homer for the Red Sox.

Sal Bando, who had driven in two first-inning runs with a single, slammed a two-run homer in the 11th, boosting Oakland past the Senators. The game was marked by a sixth-inning fistfight between Washington's Mike Epstein and catcher Dave Duncan of the A's after a collision at the plate.

Jerry Kenney, who stroked three hits, and Curt Blefary delivered two runs apiece as the Yanks snapped Milwaukee's winning streak at five in a game halted by rain with two out in the bottom of the ninth.

The White Sox scored four runs in the eighth, erasing a 1-0 Detroit lead, and added three more in the ninth. Center fielder Jim Northrup fell in a puddle chasing Ken Berry's leadoff drive in the eighth and it went for a triple, touching off the deciding rally.

Meritt 7-Game Winner As Reds Top Pirates, 5-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Control artist Jim Meritt prefers giving up a home run rather than a walk—well, most of the time.

"I challenge the hitters. I'm not afraid to give up a home run. If I do it's a solo, not with men on because of walks," the Cincinnati lefthander said after the Reds defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 Tuesday night and he became the first pitcher in the majors to win seven games this season.

His reasoning fitted the occasion when Roberto Clemente led off the fourth inning with a solo homer to right, the first hit off him in the game.

But Meritt's idealism became slightly tarnished the next time Clemente came to bat with the Reds holding a 2-1 lead.

Fred Patek had beat a grounder and Matty Alou sacrificed him to second.

Clemente was the batter. Meritt worked the Pirate star with care. Two balls. Then three and one. Finally a walk.

"I wasn't intentionally walking him," Meritt said. "I wanted him to hit my pitch. A walk there is better than a home run."

The Pirates eventually tied the game in the same inning when Meritt gave up an unintentional walk to Bob Robertson to load the bases and Willie Stargell hit a sacrifice fly.

Lee May cracked his ninth homer of the season off loser Steve Blass, 2-5, in the seventh and Johnny Bench hit what proved to be the decisive blow in the ninth, a two-run homer off reliever Dave Guisti.

Meritt allowed the Pirates only four hits but walked four, equalling his total for the season.

"I've always been control conscious," said the former Minnesota pitcher, with the Reds for the second season.

The 26-year-old Meritt has another kind of control over the Pirates. He's 5-0 over them.

"I don't know what it is," he said. "Pittsburgh has an explosive lineup. If you give in to one batter you can be in trouble."

The Reds got two unearned runs in the fifth on a single by Bench, an error by Robertson on a foul pop which gave May, who walked, a second chance, a single by Bernie Carbo and an infield out.

The Pirates got a run in the ninth on Stargell's double and two infield outs.

Dust Commander Preackness Favorite

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kentucky Derby winner Dust Commander has been made the 3-1 favorite for Saturday's $150,000-added Preackness by Earl Hart, the official odds-maker at Pimlico.

Although Dust Commander's five-length victory in the Derby was a surprise, Hart said he was impressed by the performance and felt the public reaction was similar and would carry over to the betting on the 13-horse Preackness field.

My Dad George, runnerup in the Derby, was made the second choice by Hart at 4-1.

America Qualifies For Cage Finals

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) — Tal Brody, 6-foot-2 former Illinois star, threw in 21 points as the United States routed Australia 99-62 and qualified for the final round in the World Amateur Basketball Championships. The halftime score was 44-30.

The victory Tuesday night put the Americans in the final competition against Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and four other teams still to be decided.

MORTGAGE BURNING — Sunday morning at Community United Methodist Church the new education addition to the church will be dedicated by Bishop Frances Gerald Ensley followed by the mortgage burning ceremony.

Community Methodist Church To Burn Mortgage

Community United Methodist Church of Circleville, will conduct its mortgage burning ceremony and dedication of its educational unit 10:30 a.m. Sunday with Bishop Francis Gerald Ensley officiating.

May is a significant month in the history of the congregation. It was May 15, 1910, that the new First Methodist Episcopal Church building at the corner of Main and Pickaway Sts. was dedicated. On May 28, 1964 the new educational unit was consecrated and now on May 17, 1970, Bishop Ensley will dedicate the addition to the building.

The day's activities will begin with church school classes meeting at 9:30 a.m. as usual through the senior high level. Between 9:30 and 10:15, adults are invited to observe the classes in session, tour the corridors of the education unit, visit the classroom area, chapel and library on the third floor, and enjoy the hospitality of the coffee hour in the parlor.

The program committee for Dedication Day suggests that anyone who has a picture or memento connected with the history of the church please share it as a part of the celebration. These articles will be on display in the church offices on the main floor between the west entrances.

The worship hour will be changed to 10:30 a.m. Bishop Ensley will preach the morning sermon and dedicate the education building. He will share the pleasure of the burning of the mortgage. Both the adult and chancel choirs will provide special music.

Among honored guests will be

Morgenthau Out Of N.Y. Race For Governor

NEW YORK (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau, who resigned as deputy mayor to seek the Democratic nomination for governor, has withdrawn from the race.

Morgenthau's action Tuesday came soon after the Liberal party endorsed Arthur Goldberg, former Supreme Court justice and secretary of labor, to run in November against Nelson A. Rockefeller, the Republican incumbent.

Goldberg already had received the endorsement of the Democratic State Committee.

Morgenthau said he quit the race because he could not muster the money to carry on an effective campaign.

Drug Program Repeated For Local Public

A community service program, "Drugs — Use and Abuse," first presented in April, will be repeated 7-9 p.m. Thursday in the Circleville Junior High School auditorium.

Cosponsored by St. Philip's Episcopal Church Youth Group and Circleville Community Area Council of PICCA, the program is designed to help bring awareness of the drug issue in our community.

Response to the program presentation in April was so great, that many persons wishing to attend could not be accommodated.

A display of drugs will be shown along with a movie concerning drugs. A panel of four will make a presentation and answer questions for those attending.

The public is invited, especially teens, pre-teens and their parents.

The Nixon administration has urged restraint on the part of both management and labor in new contract bargaining.

The recent UAW convention adopted a set of demands that includes a "substantial wage increase," and, among other things, earlier retirement at higher pensions, removal of the cap that now limits annual cost-of-living increases to eight cents hourly and the addition of company-paid dental care.

Ohio Fuel Gas To Expand Gas Storage Facilities

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. will spend $3.7 million this year to expand and improve its underground natural gas storage facilities in Ohio, it was announced today.

Ohio Fuel supplies natural gas to Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., and 26 other gas companies in Ohio. Columbia Gas of Ohio and Ohio Fuel both are part of the Columbia Gas System.

C. R. Baker, Circleville manager for Columbia Gas of Ohio, said 100 new storage wells and 10 replacement wells will be drilled. Fifty existing storage wells also will be reconditioned to help assure continued dependable natural gas service to the company's customers.

Laser beams are being bounced back from the moon to each side of the South Atlantic to measure to within inches how far South America and Africa are drifting apart.

next winter. Total cost of the work will be $3,728,300, Baker said.

All of the work will be done in Ohio Fuel's 14 existing storage field, which are strategically located throughout the state.

They are: Lucas, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Pavia, in Ashland and Richland Counties; Weaver, in Ashland, Richland and Knox Counties; Laurel, in Hocking County; Benton, in Hocking and Vinton Counties; Holmes, in Holmes County; Wellington, in Lorain and Medina counties; Wayne, in Wayne, Ashland and Holmes Counties; Medina, in Medina County; McArthur, in Vinton County; Lorain, in Lorain County; Guernsey, in Guernsey, Muskingum and Coshocton Counties; Knox, in Muskingum County.

Forty of the new storage wells will be drilled in Pavia Storage Field. Thirty will be in Lucas, 20 in Weaver, five in Laurel, three in Benton and two in McArthur. The exact location of the 10 replacement wells and 50 existing wells to be reconditioned will be determined later this year.

About 95 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers is purchased outside the state. During the summer, gas transported to Ohio through long-distance pipelines from the Southwest is stored in the 14 underground storage fields — natural rock formations thousands of feet underground that once held native gas.

Thus the gas is available for use the following winter. On the coldest winter days, about 55 per cent of the gas used by gas company customers comes from underground storage. During the winter just ended, more than two billion cubic feet of gas was withdrawn from these storage fields in a single day.

As customers' demands for gas increase, the gas company must increase the amount of gas stored and step up the input and output rate of the gas to and from storage.

The amount of gas that can be taken out of storage areas on cold winter days, or stored on warm summer days, depends largely on the number and deliverability of storage wells.

To improve this deliverability, Ohio Fuel must drill additional wells into storage fields and replace and recondition existing wells to keep their operation at maximum efficiency, Baker explained.
